Unofficial Analysis

- [0] This analysis was done by a human and is subject to human error.
- [1] It is assumed that, of teams in contention for the same position, it is inconceivable that one will outscore another by more than 30 points. Inconceivable!
- [2] The race for "most points" is between four teams, all within a range of 5 points: Misplaced Modifiers, Smith & Guessin', Bloor St. Irregulars, and MI5 -- and they are all playing each other in Game 10: Mods vs. BSI and S&G vs. MI5. The same four teams are also in contention for the Torquemada Division championship, which of course goes to the second-place team if the first-place one also has "most points".
- It's not worthwhile to set out all the contingencies for who beats who by how many points, but Mods can ensure a berth in the Final by winning or tying.
- [3] The Usual Suspects have clinched the Jaworski Division championship and will be in the Final.
- [4] If no teams enter or leave the league, the Suspects will also be promoted to the Torquemada Division. The team relegated to the Jaworski Division will be either Toronto Trivia Commission or What She Said. They are playing each other in Game 10. TTC can cause WSS to be relegated by winning that game by at least 21 points; otherwise it's TTC who will be relegated.
